"The selection of Senator Cameron as Chairman, indicates that the coming contest is to be one of any degree of desperation necessary to insure Republican success. He is the man who was first to the front to revise the vote of Louisiana and Florida after the election of Tiiden and have those States declared to Hayes. He was then Secretary of War, and it was his assurance to the Southern returning boards of the protection of the bayonet, that cleared the insuperable obstacles in the way of the fraud, and Hayes rewarded the Cabinet officer who had saved him after defeat by a dismissal, and a homily on civil service reform.

"Senator Cameron is doubtless quite willing to repeat the Louisiana and Florida business whenever and wherever mecessary to succeed in 1880, but we hazard little in assuming that he won't process to repeat it to take in such a political success the same of the content of the content of the content of the content of the won't process to repeat it to take in such a political content of the conten
